

road junction.

Insa award for NCL scientist

Ashish Kishore Lele, a scientist working with the polymer engineering division at National Chemical Laboratory, Pune has been selected along with 17 other researchers from all over the country for this year's `Indian National Science Academy (INSA) medal for young scientists.' The award is given every year for outstanding contributions to science and technology.

Lele is involved in polymer processing work at NCL, which mainly includes developing of new polymer products.

Copyright © 1998 Indian Express Newspapers (Bombay) Ltd.

Top

